TWICE PROVEN

If you suffer backache, sleepless nights, tired, dull days and distressing urinary disorders, don't experiment. Read this twice-told testimony. It's Norway evidence—doubly proven.

E. C. Libby, Sanborn St., Norway, says: "I had a great deal of backache which annoyed me to do anything. My head ached and I noticed specks floating before my eyes and my sight blurred. I used different remedies but it was left to Doan's Kidney Pills to give me lasting results. I got Doan's at Stone's Drug Store and since using them I have had no return of kidney complaint." (Statement given June 6, 1916.)

On September 3, 1920, Mr. Libby said: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills or any other kidney medicine since being cured by Doan's. My faith in this remedy is just as strong as ever."

A COMMUNICATION FROM CROCKETT RIDGE

Old Crockett Ridge had quite a jolt. When they heard that it was true, that Millerville had changed her name to Durant Avenue. They shook their heads and sadly said, "Be in the swim we must. We will hold a council, and will find, Ourselves a name or bust!" So they decided that they would take to themselves the honor of changing the old fashioned name. To that of (plain) Ford Corner! So three cheers for Dear Old Lizzie, She may rattle but she's game. Of course, she's not a Durant. But she gets there just the same.

A Buick Closed Car

Built For Summer Driving

The Buick Six Cylinder Touring Sedan is particularly popular because it combines perfectly the many advantages of the open touring model with the luxury and convenience of a fine closed car.

The wide windows provide touring model airiness; yet in case of a summer shower or dust storm, a turn of the hand instantly protects the occupants without obstructing their vision.

Buick traditional performance, power dependability and riding comfort are worthily typified in this Touring Sedan.

THERE IS A WAY

One important function of Trust is to provide against the unexpected. By conferring with our officers and your attorney, you can work out a plan whereby you can make provision against contingencies and arrange to have your property, or income from same, come into the possession of the persons you designate.

Each case requires individual study. When we know what end you wish to accomplish, we can suggest the means. A conference with our officers places you under no obligation. It will be a pleasure for us to give you information on a subject so vitally important to you and to your family.

HOBBS FAMILY REUNION

The Wm. C. Hobbs' reunion met with a cousin Miss Elsie Green, in Madison, N. H., this year. Nineteen members of the family were present. All coming by auto from Miami, Fla., Hudson and Lynn, Mass., Norway and Hebron Maine, and Brighton, N.Y., July 4th. Two auto loads left Norway early in the morning for Madison. Although the skies were threatening it was a merry party that wended its way through Fryeburg and Conway to out destination. Fourth of July was much in evidence, especially at Conway, showing the old patriotic spirit to be much alive in the present generation. We arrived at Madison at ten A. M. (standard time). We expected to meet our brother Fred but imagine our surprise to meet our brother Adna from Florida with him.
Surely the hostess of Brookside outdid herself in her greetings and in providing for us as a bunch. No stone was left unturned for our comfort and pleasure. Scarcely were we well settled when our brother Herbert arrived with another auto load making our number complete save one, "Clara Gilman." Soon the dinner bell rang. And such a dinner on the lawn under the apple trees. No wonder the box of dyspepsia tablets had to be freely passed afterwards.
The afternoon was passed in sight seeing and visiting. And after a supper under the trees all repaired to the big living room with its stone fireplace and chimney. There to spend a long remembered evening with music, story telling, and childhood remembrances. Bed time came and some wondered where we would spend the night. Both bungalow and tent was filled and kindly neighbors cared for the overflow. The next morning after breakfast we had our business meeting. After which suit cases and lunch boxes were filled and we left for Brighton, Vt.
It was with much regret we left Brookside bungalow, our genial hostess, and her two friends, Miss Dunshee and Miss Underwood, who did so much for our pleasure and comfort. Our trip this day was around the White Mt. on the west side through Crawford Notch. To those of us who had never taken that trip, it was most wonderful. We arrived at Brighton at six P. M. glad to stretch our limbs once more. The barns interested the boys as many of them had never seen a milking machine at work and it was quite a sight to see thirty-seven sleek cows milked in so short a time. The next morning it rained and rather upset our plans. But when we suggested we stop over a day brother Herbie was more than glad. In the afternoon we took a trip to Island Pond and called on two nieces and their families. Bright and early the next morning we started for Norway, by the way of the Balsams and Dixville Notch, reaching the home of Mrs. Cox at noon. Here we found a dinner provided by her son and wife awaiting us. Stewed chicken and strawberry short-cake quickly disappeared and after a short rest the autos were again taken for the home of Mrs. Cummings in Hebron, the next morning one remaining auto load left for Massachusetts and Connecticut by the way of the beaches. It surely was a most wonderful and pleasing trip with no accident to mar its pleasure. A break in one machine at the start compelled it to be left at Lawrence, Mass. for repairs so Fred and son and chauffeur had to come by train and he could not take all the trip with the rest of us, much to our regret. Nineteen of the family were present.—Mrs. E. A. Cox, Norway, Maine, Walter G. Hobbs, Milford, Conn., Annie Hobbs, Lynn, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hobbs, and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence, Hudson, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hobbs, and daughters, Freda and Polly, and son, Clayton, of Brighton, Vt., Adna Hobbs, Miami, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cummings and sons, Lawrence and Harry, of Hebron.
Sunday, Nov 5th, 1852, William Crosby Hobbs and Amanda Tufts Frost were united in marriage at the Norway Center Church. There are sixty-six direct descendants. Eight children, four boys and four girls, twenty-six grandchildren, thirteen boys and thirteen girls, twenty-nine great grandchildren, twenty boys and nine girls, three great great grandchildren, one boy and two girls. Of these all are living save three grandchildren, Mrs. Minnie Haskell, who passed away last year and little Ellen and Berle who pass away years ago. This is a record hard to beat and one to be proud of.

DR. DIRIGO ANSWERS QUESTIONS

To the Health Department of Maine many inquiries come. The rather frequent recurrence of the same question, coming from widely different parts of the state, suggests that probably the answers to many of them would be interesting and helpful to other persons. The department is glad at any time to advise individuals as well as local health officers about any matters relating to public health or personal hygiene. Answers go by personal letters to the persons who ask the questions, and only such as may be thought to be of general interest are later used in this column. Inquiries should be addressed: State Department of Health, Augusta, Maine.

I wish you would let me know the cause of hay-fever and what a sufferer can do to make summer life the more worth the living? D. H.

Your inquiry relates to a matter in which the State Department of Health is very much interested and in which it hopes to have much work done through the coming season. How to avoid hay fever and how the annoyance and suffering due to it may be mitigated is certainly an interesting question with many persons, for the most experienced authorities have estimated that there are one million persons in this country who suffer from this trouble every year; and in due proportion that would mean that there are six or seven thousand such sufferers here in Maine.

The principal cause of the so-called hay-fever is the inhalation of that dust-like organic matter called pollen, which is given off by plants during their period of bloom. From the point of view of the causation of hay-fever, plants are divided into two classes. In one, the fertilizing pollen, which enables the plants to bear seed is transported by the wind; in the other by insects. In guarding against pollen as the cause of hay-fever, the wind pollinated plants are practically all that need be considered.

Early in the spring certain trees, birch, maple, willow and some others give off an abundance of pollen. A few persons are sensitive to pollen from these sources. But this is a minor source of trouble for hay-fever sufferers.

Later, in June and early July, a somewhat larger number of persons are badly affected by the pollen given off by the grasses; but the pollen grains from this source are heavier so that they are not borne so far by the wind as are some others, and therefore are not far-reaching in their influence.

A much larger number of persons, from 80 to 90 per cent. of all hay-fever victims, it is estimated, suffer from autumnal hay-fever. This comes very largely from the so-called ragweed growing on vacant lots and in other waste places.

Some persons are sensitive to the pollen from the plants which give off their pollen in spring or early summer, others to the late pollinating plants, and a few are troubled with both the spring and autumnal hay-fevers.

The first step in the prevention of hay-fever is for each person to determine what plant or plants are responsible for his trouble. The ability to recognize and name the plants which are the chief causes of hay-fever, is the season when one suffers with it, is helpful, indeed. Of late years a great help comes from the diagnostic pollen extracts which help physicians very much in determining what particular plant is the cause of his patient's trouble.

The next thing is the avoidance of the vicinity of the abundant growth of the incriminated plants, or the carrying out of plans for their destruction. In some cities there are laws against the harboring of weeds in objectionable places. In a few cities concerted efforts, by means of municipal ordinances and otherwise, have been carried on against hay-fever weeds, resulting in a marked lowering of the sickness rate from hay-fever.

Some places in Maine have what appears to be well-deserved reputations for the absence of hay-fever. In other places, at some of our summer resorts, with a very slight prevalence of these troubles, there is a commendable movement to make the visitors as nearly wholly immune as possible by destroying the plants that have been the chief cause of their trouble.

The State Department of Health, on its part, is preparing to carry on a line of work which will help our people to recognize hay-fever plants and, with a view of investigating the seasonal and local prevalence of hay-fever in Maine. It would be very glad to correspond with any persons who have been troubled with hay-fever.

WEST LOVELL

William J. Crotty of Marlboro, Mass., is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Daniel M. Fox, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Fox with a party of friends, went on a two hundred mile trip around the White Mts., last Sunday.

There are three classes of people: Those who tell the truth, those who exaggerate and those who lie.

OXFORD

Fore Street

John Grover and wife were in Waterford a few days recently.

Miss Retha Glover, pastor of the A. C. C., Oxford, called on her Fore Street parishioners last week.

Chestnut Twitchell visited her friend, Dorothy Holman, of Stratford, N. H., last week, going by auto, with Miss Holman, who with her father, Orin Holman, came for her.

Elmer Hussey, formerly of Norway, now of Wickford, R. I., was a recent caller at E. E. Twitchell's.

Mrs. Alma T. Judkins of North Norway was a recent guest of Mrs. E. E. Twitchell and Flora Cummings.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Edwards were week end guests at E. E. Twitchell's.

Mrs. Alvin Lovejoy was in Auburn to see a doctor, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alanson Cummings of South Woodstock spent Sunday afternoon and night with his mother, Flora Cummings.

One of the Sunday parties stopping at The Elms run by Mrs. Leon Twitchell was the Jackson-Silver Post and auxiliary of Bryant Pond. Eight cars started with a party of over 30. Two cars were detained with tire trouble and other difficulties so only 22 were present at the first feed, which was had in Mrs. Twitchell's dining room where Mr. and Mrs. Twitchell served them hot coffee with real cream as the party made merry eating various kinds of sandwiches interspersed with cakes, cheese, doughnuts, pies and cookies the ladies of the auxiliary brought. The center of the dining table was decorated with a tempting bunch of bananas, surrounded with other goodies with hot and cold drinks at hand made a feast indeed. During the merry making the sun shone out through the clouds long enough for the party to group by the autos for their pictures, which, if they come true, will be pleasing to look at, especially the one Proprietor Twitchell took, including Commander Cummings of the Jackson-Silver Post, while taking pictures of the party. The party then rolled on to the Oxford Sanatorium to call on the ex-service men there. Much pleasure was evinced by them that the party came. After an hour or so stop with "the boys," the party started for home, this time calling by twos and fives at Twitchell's stand, The Elms, for hot dogs, cold drinks, ice cream, fresh roasted, in the shell if you please peas to those who cared, as well as take home to cook. Talk being made of another trip so to go by The Elms in time for eats, in the near future.

SOUTH WATERFORD

Most of the people finished haying last week. The weather has been very dry for a long time. The rain Monday was very welcome.

Mrs. Phillips and children of Portland are at their summer home for the remainder of the season. Mr. Phillips who holds a responsible position as train dispatcher for M. C. R. R. will come later.

Everyone manifests much interest in the Chautauque which comes the first week in August.

Wm. Green and Charlie Nelson have completed painting Dr. Hubbard's house.

Mr. Rideout of the Lake House is at work for Miss Gerry for a few days; Mr. Rideout is a wonderful man for his years, he is seen walking around Lake Keoka quite frequently.

The Grange affair Saturday evening under the able direction of Mrs. Arthur Sanderson and her associates was very fine and much enjoyed by a record attendance. Mrs. Warren of Portland gave readings, also sang several selections.

NORTHEAST LOVELL

Henry Fox and Bert Brown are through haying.

Bert Kendall is sick with the measles. Mrs. Kendall who has been sick with them, is so to be around again.

Mrs. John Kendall and William Stanford were callers at Freeman Andrews' Sunday.

Norman Kendall has bought a car of Clint Andrews.

Henry Fox is doing Bert Kendall's chores as Mr. Kendall has the measles.

EAST SUMNER

Rev. Alfred Storor Cole, late of Woodford, preached an excellent sermon here last Sunday morning. A number of his former classmates at B. H. S. were in the audience. He will preach here again next Sunday.

Beautiful music was furnished by a choir consisting of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. H. Stetson, Mrs. Charles Barrows of Sumner and A. S. Barrows.

Mrs. Lester Merrill and little son, who have been spending a month at her old home, have returned to Portland.

Henry Bonney found one of his horses dead in the barn.

"Charlie" is always warmly welcomed by his old friends in this vicinity, coming by his old friends in the village.

W. L. Bryant is renovating the village school building in accordance with suggestions made by the state inspector.

Doris Stephens, who has been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. R. G. Stephens of Kennebunk, has returned home.

Ruth Chesley has a summer position as waitress in a hotel at Pemaquid Point.

Two of her college friends are with her.

The Ladies' Circle held a successful food sale at the Grange Hall, Wednesday of last week.

An ice cream room has been opened at Stetson's Cash Store, which is well patronized.

Mrs. Edith Gammon gave an afternoon tea on her veranda last Saturday to three of her B. H. S. schoolmates, Elsie and Dorothy Palmer and Esther Eastman Merrill. The afternoon was greatly enjoyed.

The Grange meeting Saturday evening was also an enjoyable occasion. After an interesting program, a lunch of sandwiches and lemonade was served.

Help in the hayfield is scarce and so high that only people with well-filled pocket books can afford to hire.

A variety shower was given Helen Reed at the home of Mrs. Ray Smith, Monday evening.

There were many gifts for the young lady, who is soon to be the bride of Carl Bonney. Cake and ice cream were served, and everyone seemed to have a right good time. When it comes to social event, East Sumner is right there.

EAST FRYEBURG

There are about 60 girls at Camp Cohechee, Carter Hill.

Philip Walker has been a recent visitor in Boston.

Mrs. I. Chandler Walker and children have arrived and opened her bungalow "Borderwood" on Walker's Hill.

Amelia Sanborn was in Portland Tuesday to have her tonsils removed, returning Thursday, and is getting along nicely.

Mrs. Raymond Richardson and three children are the guests for several weeks of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Warren.

Edwin McIntire has the Warren mill all set up and ready for business.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Meserve who have been spending the winter at Twin Mountain, have returned to their home here.

Edgewood has a full house of boarders and a good run of transients.

Samuel Richardson & Son have their barn nearly remodeled.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben P. Trine and daughter Martha came this week to their cottage for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Walker have been entertaining his brother, Fred and Mrs. Walker of Boston, Mass.

The rain has been greatly appreciated it was getting very dry.

J. J. Pike is in failing health and has taken his bed.

CENTER LOVELL

Frances Adams from Albany visited her mother, Mrs. Lottie Adams, at Ralph McAllister's a few days the past week.

Mrs. Ethel Hanson has finished work for Benjamin Russell and is stopping with her sister, Mrs. Merton Eastman, at North Fryeburg.

Rodolph McAllister has finished work for Sargent Coleman, and is helping his father during haying.

Elmon Vance from Boston, Mass., was at his father's, A. W. L. Vance's, a few days recently.

Louisa Horr from Westbrook is visiting her sister, Mrs. Carrie Vance.

MAKE HOME AND THE TOWN ATTRACTIVE

Why is it the average young man of twenty has an intense longing for life in the big cities?

Why is it that millions of men of maturity in the cities have an equally intense longing for the peace and quietude of the rural districts they left in their younger days?

The country town does not blaze with the bright lights of life as do the great cities. It is small, but it is solid, and substantial, and inclined to be subdued. Its citizen's words are as good as their bonds, and their reputations are high in the sight of their fellow men, but the variety and excitement that appeals to youth is too often missing. Hence youth becomes fretful, and impatient of restraint, and finally breaks the home ties and rushes into the maelstrom of metropolitan existence.

Once in the great city, possibly one in ten succeed, and a few forge gradually to the front. In time these few are known to the world as self-made men. The other nine are lost in the crowd.

Opportunities are numerous, it is true, but where there is one opportunity there are many young men of varied experience waiting to grasp it.

Thus the great majority of young men from the country who invade the cities expecting to set the world afire find that about the best they can do is to burn the candle at both ends.

Too proud to go back to the home town and confess failure, they just plug along and do the best they can, disillusioned and wiser, but still not satisfied.

They are the millions who, later in life, long for the peace and quietude of the home towns they left in their younger days.

The remedy is simple.

Fill the home town out of the rut and the boys won't want to rush out of the town.

Loosen up on the purse strings and introduce some spice and variety into our community life.

Make the country town and the farm so attractive to our young people the city will no longer appeal to them.

Don't expect our boys and girls with red blood in their veins to be content with spending their lives in a cemetery.

Begin to live yourself, and you won't be opposed to allowing the rising generation to do the same.

Life is full of changes, and there is only one end for the person who is not willing to change with the times.

Elected Principal of New Hampton Institute

John Shaw French, Ph. D., formerly of Norway, was elected principal of the New Hampshire Literary Institute, New Hampton, N. H., at a meeting of the trustees, July 11, in the office of State Secretary of Agriculture, in the New Hampshire State House at Concord.

Dr. French is a brother-in-law of Frank P. Stone of this town, fitted for college in Norway High School, and worked in Stone's drug store much of the time that he had finished his student life and started on an independent career.

From Norway High school, he went to Bowdoin college, graduating in the regular course, and then to Clark University, Worcester, Mass., where he won a fellowship and earned the degree of doctor of philosophy by research in mathematics.

He was several years head of the mathematics department at Jacob Tome Institute, Port Deposit, Md., the leading boys' college fitting school in the southern States, and went from there to Rhode Island to be principal of the Morris Heights school, a large private school for boys. At the time of the war he became business director of the Student Army Training Corps at Clark University, and afterwards assumed the position of chairman of the board of admissions to the university.

Dr. French will at once assume his duties at New Hampton and make preparations for the coming year, which is the 103rd in its life. In a statement, published by New Hampshire and Boston papers, he announced his plans as follows:

It is planned to emphasize during the coming academic year, certain features, such as the introduction of a preceptorial system of student supervision, together with the seminar method of classroom instruction. These are to be in the hands of faculty of specialists who are to be selected from the great universities. It is hoped in this way to establish a relationship between the students themselves and their instructors and friends which will measure high in the creation of standards and ideals.

Fred W. Sanborn of Norway is a graduate of New Hampton Institute, as also was Mrs. Sanborn. Mr. Sanborn was one of the teaching force there from the time that he graduated until he took up newspaper work in Laconia, N. H.

Methodist Church Notes

Next Sunday, July 22nd, there will be morning worship at 10:45, with sermon by the pastor, Rev. T. C. Chapman. Sunday school at noon.

The Epworth League service and the usual evening worship will be omitted. The great religious gathering of the evening will be at the Chautauqua tent where the address will be given by Bishop Ernest G. Richardson of Atlanta, Ga.

Harry Box, a soloist of exceptional merit, will give two selections and lead the congregational singing. Ethel Wentworth Box will be accompanist.

Veranda Club Notes

Veranda Club met with Mrs. Helen Damon Thursday evening, July 12, where a pleasant evening was spent. It was voted to give the children a supper at the home of Mrs. Florence Smith this Thursday from 4 to 6 o'clock instead of the usual picnic.

On July 5 the graves of the deceased members were decorated by a small number of the Club members.

Next meeting will be with the president, Mrs. Laura Everett, Thursday evening, July 26.

D. of V. Notes

Elizabeth Crockett Blake Tent, Daughters of Veterans, held a regular meeting Friday evening with a large attendance. Department president Lilla F. Rice came from Lewiston to be present for the session, and Miss Grace Crockett of Bridgewater, Mass., who is visiting in town, was present, the first time for a year. It was voted to adjourn meetings until Friday evening, August 24. Plans were discussed for the annual sale which will be held in the early fall. The following committees were appointed:

Aprons—Mrs. Elizabeth Sampson, Mrs. Eva Rice, Mrs. Edna Ridson, Mrs. Ida Gammon, Mrs. Jessie Whitman, Mrs. Nina McCallister, Mrs. Lilla Rice.

Mystery Booth—Mrs. Tena McCallister, Mrs. Ruby Sharrod, Mrs. Vesta Smith, Mrs. C. Kimball, Mrs. Maggie Libby, Mrs. Marion French, Mrs. Josephine Sweeney.

Candy Table—Mrs. Evis Cook, Mrs. Laura Thurston, Mrs. Avis Huff, Mrs. Ruth Curtis, Mrs. Hattie Harvey, Mrs. Merle Brown, Mrs. Beale Packard, Mrs. Fannie Monk, Mrs. Nellie Noyes, Mrs. Ruth Libby, Mrs. Mildred Irvine, Mrs. Gertrude Magoin, Miss Gertrude George.

Lunch and Refreshments—Mrs. Bertha Noyes, Mrs. Nettie Nevers, Mrs. Emma Swan, Mrs. Flora Newcomb, Mrs. Belle Bickford, Mrs. Henrietta Hussey, Mrs. Rilla Holt, Mrs. Ellen Damon, Mrs. Fannie J. Frost, Mrs. Fred, Mrs. Lois Marston, Mrs. Elizabeth Hussey, Hazel and Ida Kimball, Jennie Murch, Ethna Noble, Dorothy Newcomb.

After the meeting the hour was enjoyed and a short program was presented, including piano solos by Irene Nevers and Ruth Libby and a vocal duet by Elizabeth Conary and Gordon McCallister. A penny lunch was served in charge of Mrs. Mary Kimball and Mrs. Maybelle Bell. The dollars that have been earned were handed in and the majority told how it was earned, in verse, and the Tent members displayed much talent in this direction, and much amusement was caused. About thirty dollars was realized.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred G. Conary and two children and Mrs. Gertrude Adams motored to Bar Harbor and Blue Hill, spending Saturday and Sunday with relatives.

A good number of baseball enthusiasts from Norway attended the Dixfield/Twin Town game at Dixfield, Wednesday afternoon.

Charles Elwell of Westbrook is visiting his cousin, Eugene L. Hutchins and wife, Mrs. Bethel Bell, who has been spending a week in Portland, returned home Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Wilby Libby, who spent the day at Higgins Beach.

Sampson's Hornpout Boat

Capt. Mel Sampson of the Merchant Marine on Lake Pennesseewassee, has leaped into fame at a moment's notice.

The big idea is a Hornpout Boat embodying Yankee showmanship and P. T. Barnum's knowledge of human nature. Captain Mel, knowing the subtle ways of the bull headed "pouts" has painted his boat a regulation Secony red. Oh boy! it's a flash, but it gets them.

The color scheme is designed to eliminate electric or other lights, which on the night hunt. The blazing red is self sufficient and would you believe it, the entranced "pouts" just stampede toward this brilliant object. The rest is easy for miniature ladders suspended into the water from both sides, permit the deluded victims to climb over the gunwale and drop into baskets prepared for them.

What a cinch!

The Captain has made his fortune. In flights of fancy he has evolved a scheme to stock the lake and erect a red paint factory. At the same time, he has a corn cobbler factory is teeming with the most loving beauties, but if Captain Sampson is permitted to carry out his nefarious dreams, not a hornpout will be living in Maine, within two years unless an injunction is issued on the use of red paint around inland waters.

Note—The Sporting Editor suggests a Committee of Public Safety be appointed, heavily bonded, to keep Capt. Sampson's advanced ideas within reasonable distance of a gunpowder factory.

Norway Grange

Norway Grange held a contest meeting last Saturday night, Annie Brown was captain of the married grangers, won a higher score than Ralph Watson, captain of the single grangers. The scores given in costume by Annie Brown and Minnie Herick were very entertaining.

The young men gave several fine readings. Arthur Holman gave an instructive talk on the home garden, placing great stress on the use of native plants and cultivation for home use and markets.

The next meeting will be young people's night. The young members will occupy the officers' chairs and all are asked to invite a friend for the program and social hour.

Lester Cowan and family have moved from Winter street into Verne Rich's house on Marston street.

Laurence Lester is stopping with her aunt, Miss Emma J. Smith, at the home of Mrs. Mary Cole who has been with her has returned to her home in the village.

Earl Thibodeau of Stoneham, Mass., is at home on his vacation.

Mrs. Emma Swan did the cooking at Lakeside a few days while Mrs. Brown went to South China to see her mother, who recently fractured her hip.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Blake spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Denison at Harrison.

Lawrence Denison spent Sunday with his family at Norway Bridge.

Dr. Clarence T. Pratt, osteopathic physician, who has succeeded Dr. A. L. Sikkens, has had his special osteopathic table sent here from Portland. This is one of the latest tables made for osteopathic treatment and was purchased in Kirksville, Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. King and daughter Gladys of Taunton, Mass., are visiting Mrs. King's sister, Mrs. Maude Milne.

Mrs. Dorothea Horr, who has been visiting her sister in Massachusetts for several weeks, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Edminster and Leroy Luce have been spending a few days in North New Boston.

Theodore and Robb of this town and N. B. Brown of South Portland climbed Mt. Washington, Sunday. They left here at 4 a. m. and motored to the Glenn. Leaving there about 9, they hiked through Tuckerman's Ravine and reached the summit at 2:30 p. m.

Returning on the carriage road to the Glenn House in a little over two hours, where the auto was waiting, the tired party reached home about 8:45 p. m. A huge snow bank was encountered in the Ravine and the place was icy cold; about half way to the top the snow was encountered and drenched by a heavy thunder shower.

Fairly good view was obtained from the top, as the clouds kept lifting during their stay.

Mrs. Elden Morsey escaped a serious accident Sunday afternoon on Fore street railroad crossing near A. D. Cummings'. They were driving with the pony outfit toward Norway, when the animal caught his hoof in the crossing between the rail and plank. During the struggle to release himself, the carriage was brought into a position that allowed one out wheel to drop into the same flange when the pony jumped free. The wheel collapsed but the occupants were not thrown out. With Mr. Cummings' aid, the temporary repairs were made so Mr. and Mrs. Morsey could continue home. The pony's ankle was wrenched, but so far as observed was otherwise uninjured.

EMPIRE GROVE CAMP MEETING

This historic assembly gathers on August 11th and continues over two Sundays, closing August 19th. The program for last year, the most helpful and inspiring, is being repeated, but this year is surpassed if the present plans are fully carried out.

Rev. C. B. Oliver of Bethel will have charge of the boys' work and special recreational features. Rev. Percy S. Billon, another life wire among our younger clergymen, will see that the work of the young people's societies is well represented, forming study classes and leading in practical presentations of Epworth League methods.

Miss Alice Locke Brown, State worker in the Sunday school of the Epworth League, having an eye especially to the Primary and Junior Departments.

Rev. E. A. Pollard Jones of Waterville will lead in the study of the Gospel of Mark, giving an hour to this topic each morning. This promises to be one of the most attractive features of the program.

Each afternoon there will be live address and talks of practical interest. Every evening there will be a half hour presentation of some field of missionary work, beautifully illustrated with the stereopticon. These lectures will be followed by evangelistic sermons. Among special speakers, Miss W. P. Thirkield of Mexico is expected on Sunday.

Rev. L. O. Hartman, editor of "Zion's Herald," whose recent visit to Maine has attracted so much attention, will give an address on Sunday, the 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane of Auburn will have charge of the music.

At Cobb's Market Norway, this week, Salt Pork at 12¢ a pound.

South Paris

Girl ushers are employed at entertainments in Association Hall. They gave their first demonstration when the Trubull Players were here Friday night and proved so efficient this innovation will be retained.

Mrs. Lillian Haskell of Boston and parents have moved into the house formerly occupied by the Morse family. The front rooms are fitted up for a waffle and gift shop. It is understood the family are here for the summer.

Rev. C. Wellington Rogers of Merchantsville, N. J., has been spending a vacation in town. Rev. Mr. Rogers is supplying pulpits in the vicinity and later will supply at North Anson until January and possibly longer. He was a pastor of the South Paris Congregational Church for a number of years.

Albert C. Frost has moved from Bethel to South Paris.

Muriel Bowker is attending the summer school at Gorham Normal School.

The Universalist Sunday school picnic at Lake Tripp in Poland was a success, with native plants and wild flowers from the bog. Major boating, rowing, swimming and other sports kept all busy and entertained. Perfect weather added in a large measure to the success of the plans carried out by the committee in charge.

Graves, stage manager at the Farm Bureau office, has been enjoying a vacation at Old Orchard and Winthrop.

SAVE THE WILD FLOWERS

To save the wild flowers of New England, a new society has been formed under the auspices of the Garden Club of America and the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. It is called the society for the preservation of Native New England Plants.

Its object, as stated in a prospectus just received, is "to encourage and educate the people of New England to protect native plants and wild flowers from destruction, to cut them only with care and discrimination, leaving the rarer species to multiply themselves and to spread a knowledge of their habits and cultural requirements among communities at large."

It looks like a big job. I should say, but the society plans to provide free lectures, hold exhibitions, plan wild flower sanctuaries and to spread knowledge and love of wild plants. It is the belief of those back of this movement that once the people are educated the danger of extermination of some of the most beautiful of our flowers that they will become their guardians and stop the wholesale destruction.

At present the laurel, which flourishes in Maine and other New England States, is in great danger. It is used in immense quantities in decorations at all seasons of the year—especially at Christmas time. For example, I am informed one yard of "laurel rope" contains 20 years' growth of a large plant. Think of that! In England and other New England States, motorists have played havoc with laurel by destroying great quantities of it, one of the most lovely of American shrubs.

Many wild flowers which a score of years ago were plentiful, are now seldom found and are in danger of extinction. For example, the magnolia or sweet bay has, from constant picking, practically disappeared from the swamp in the town of Essex county, Massachusetts, to which it gave its name and which, if it is not saved, will be the only plant in New England where this fragrant and pretty flower grew naturally.

CHOOSING A HAT

To find out what is becoming in millinery a person should study herself. She should understand her personality and type, then keep her good points and her bad points in mind, she should plan the lines and colors for her hat that will make her appear at her best. A hat has two functions. Its business is to protect the head against sun or cold. For the second it is light in weight and either warm or shady. Its artistic function is to frame the face, to make a background for our eyes, our hair, our face.

There are three types of faces. The square or angular calls for a broken or irregular line. The oval face, which emphasizes the angles in the face. The round face needs straight lines as a contrast. They make it appear less round. The oval looks best in curving lines, with these becoming softer or more waving for the face.

Pronging is the relation of parts to the whole. In millinery we should consider the relation between the crown and the brim, the hat and its trimming and the size of the head. Large features may be made to appear smaller under a well chosen hat. The same principle applies to small features and faces. The size of the hat in relation to the figure is another problem in proportion. Stout people should not wear small hats, for even though they may fit the head it will look too small for the person; a slender girl would make the same person appear smaller. Small people should wear small hats and large people large ones.

Everyone knows that certain colors are becoming to some people and other colors are becoming to others. It is hard to find exact rules that hold true in every case but there are a few principles that we should remember. Colors worn as close to the face as they must be in a hat send a tone of their own color over the face. A color sends a rosy glow over a pale face, but makes a red face look redder yet. A green on the other hand neutralizes the red, making a pale face look whiter yet and a red face more pale. Black and dark purple take away color while white brings out the delicate tones. A hat with the color through-out, matching or contrasting with the costume. It may have a color scheme of its own. The later should follow some colors in the costume. A dark hat will tone down the effect while a bright color will give a touch of interest to a dull gown.

So in planning a hat we may consider that we are planning a work of art and in choosing a hat we should be adding the final artistic touch to our costume.

OXFORD COUNTY BOY SCOUT CAMP

Oxford County Camp for Boy Scouts opened its second season at Locke's Mills July 8, with fifteen scouts registered.

L. C. Bates of West Paris, who gave the use of the large farm buildings and a large acreage including upland and shore, has improved the dwelling used for headquarters and the commissary department.

New floors in the kitchen and fresh paper and paint in several rooms adds much to the place. A coat of paint outside, has also improved the property.

An old barn is being torn down and the material will be converted into a wharf if the project continues.

The large tents erected on the ridge overlooking North Pond or Dudley Lake housed the boys. The youngsters were well and happy under the oversight of Dr. I. H. Wight of Bethel and Dr. R. F. Willard who made frequent inspections.

Leslie Ferguson of Rumford, a senior at Bowdoin College, was camp director and results prove him to be an organizer and leader. G. D. Chamberlain of Fort Fairfield was athletic director and supervisor of swimming. He is also a Bowdoin student after an A. B. degree.

The culinary department proved one of the best under the chef Charles Leary and assistant Max Cutting, both of Andover. Chef Leonard cooks in the woods and knows his business. He had been provided with a range and two large kitchen stoves with a regular kitchen equipment. The boys ate heartily and food without stint and thrived. At breakfast cereals, toast, doughnuts and cookies were served. A luscious roast with potatoes and other vegetables or a meal included a chowder, a stew or crackers and milk with doughnuts and cookies. The boys were not limited on good fresh milk to drink during the meals and they absorbed many quarts, especially during hot weather.

Swimming was on regular hours and under personal supervision. The boys wore rubber caps for identification, red for beginners, blue for intermediate and green for experts. The "green caps" assisted the director in teaching and saving the boys from accidents. Every boy was given tests and classified on his first day in camp. There was boating and other athletic sport beside hours for instruction in Scout Craft and for tests. Perhaps the most delightful event was the story hour at the big camp fire beneath the stars when the boys gathered around the crackling fire and listened to wholesome stories told by one of the staff. Special features were given, as for example on Saturday a scientific subject illustrated with moving pictures was shown at headquarters by a prominent state lecturer.

Sunday was observed in a quiet manner and the regular discipline maintained. This is generally visitors' day as many boys usually break camp while the day is fair, and as a rule parents or friends come in both evenings.

The camp committee decided to close the season this week and there will probably be nothing there within a few days.

EXTENDING MAINE'S TOURIST SEASON

The most important factor necessary to improve Maine's summer tourist business is a longer season. This is the greatest drawback with which the hotel man has to contend at the present time; and, of course, a short season is just as detrimental to the farmer and to the business man as it is to the hotel and boarding house landlord.

As it is now, the rush of summer tourist traffic does not begin until well along toward the middle of July, and ends promptly on Labor Day, the first Monday of September. The proprietor of the Maine hotel, boarding house, or camp, however, has to keep open for the accommodation of guests from early June, and sometimes even from May, until late September or October. This does at a financial loss because it is almost impossible to get a crew for six weeks to handle the cream of the business and then shut up shop when the rush ends.

Summer help must be given approximately three months employment in order to hold it.

DESTRUCTIVE GARDEN SLUG

The College of Agriculture has received reports of destructive work by garden slugs in many parts of Maine. Regular holes are found in the foliage of such plants as lettuce, tomatoes, peas, beans, cabbage, strawberries, beets, and potatoes. In some cases the young plants, especially beans, have been entirely destroyed.

The injury is done at night. The slugs are hidden by day under stones, or refuse in the garden, but they can be traced, to their hiding places by following the direction of a glistening, white, starchy substance which they leave in their trail. Garden slugs are often mistaken for snails, though they have no hard outside

BOY SCOUT CAMP TO CLOSE

Owing to the small number of boys attending the Boy Scout Camp at Locke's Mills and the uncertainty of enough boys coming to make the camp pay its expenses, the members of the committee having the matter in charge, have decided to discontinue the camp for this year.

The boys that were there went away very reluctantly and those in charge of the matter were very sorry to be obliged to have them go, but the present financial condition of the Boy Scout Council will not warrant the incurring of bills that cannot be paid.

"SOLD HIMSELF CHEAPLY"

Several years ago a young man came in the office and asked the Rambler for a loan of $5.00. He got it. Several months later, the same young man came in and paid the money. The Rambler had neglected to make a charge of the money, and had forgotten it. He told the young man this, and thought that he saw a flicker of regret pass over the young man's face. Some months later the same man came in the office and again asked for a loan of the same amount. As the Rambler was watching this young man to see if he made good, he thought it would be a good test and passed out the money.

Did the man pay the second time? He hasn't yet. Sometimes when someone goes back on us we say, "He sold himself cheaply." That is about what this man did. He probably calculated that the Rambler would forget a second time, but there is where he made his mistake. And he does not know, and will not know, unless he happens to read this, that the neglect to repay that money cost him a good job. The Rambler likes to help young men to get good jobs, and has had many opportunities to recommend to positions where advancement was probable. When a business man said, "I am thinking of giving a position which do you think about it?" The Rambler could not say, "I think he is all right." And he did not get the job. Judge Towne in Franklin Journal-Transcript.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

George Coe of the Eastman Hill Stock Farm at Lovell, made us a call Thurs. Mr. Coe plans to have a large number of cattle at the State Fair at Lewiston, on Thursday, Sept. 13, and expects to secure a long line of blue ribbons.

Harry V. Cole has sold his residence, the Dr. Evans stand on the westerly side of Fair street to Charles W. Whitman and Annie B. Peabody of Gilead. It is reported the new owners are to make extensive repairs and many alterations.

The corn borer, a worm destructive to tender corn stalks, has been discovered in gardens on Beal street, probably other localities are being attacked. The department of Agriculture issued warnings early this spring, and for small plots, suggested removing the damaged plants and burning. This finishes the worms career.

Walter P. Cullinan has sold the lot and bungalow on the Easterly side of Greenleaf Avenue to Mrs. Sarah B. Farnham of South Paris. Consideration was $3,500.

Wellington Eastman of West Sumner has been in town on a business trip. Mrs. Marion Sanborn Crymble and children of Lovell, Mass. are stopping at the lake and visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Sanborn on Beal Street.

Roscoe Staples and A. L. Chaplin of Welchville were in town Tuesday, on business.

FROM FLORIDA TO MAINE

By Lydia Lord Shedd

While in Washington we saw many beautiful buildings. The U. S. Capitol to us the most beautiful building in the world. At last our childhood dreams were realized. In younger days, the height of our ambition was to see Washington, D. C. Here is the White House in its regal beauty. The grounds are wonderful as Dreamland.

Washington Monument towers in majestic beauty over the city. Seen from all points. The Union Station is a fine building with Columbus' statue in front of it. The United States Treasury, Library of Congress, U. S. Patent Office. The Lincoln Memorial is in Potomac Park near the river Potomac. There are thirty-one Doric columns each forty feet in height surround the structure. They represented the thirty-one states at the time of Lincoln's death, a wonderful monument, and the new Masonic temple. The Government Printing Office is a mammoth building. The U. S. Treasury a grand structure, also the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and the State War and Navy Buildings.

The Library of Congress is a beautiful structure, also the Smithsonian Institute. Near here is the Columbia Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the U. S. Soldiers Home. Across the Anacostia River is the U. S. Insane Asylum. Many parks in D. C., Zoological, Rock Creek, Public, Bright Wood, Garfield Park and many others.

We crossed the Potomac River. There is a wonderful park by the same name. The U. S. Reform School is on the Anacostia River and the Navy Yard War College and Engineer School, and the Congressional Cemetery. There are many palatial homes. The many beautiful avenues are named for the different states. The Pennsylvania Ave. is the most beautiful one we saw.

The 11th night was spent in Philadelphia, City, Penn. We found a large and busy city here. Late at night when we arrived and nearly all of hotels full.

Our twelfth night was spent at Greenwich, Connecticut, with a Danish family. One of our finest stopping places, very hospitable people. The Danes are very fond of coffee and some of the best coffee we ever drank was served here, also a splendid hot supper. Here is the home of Rockefeller's two sons, beautiful mansion on a high hill. There were many warehouses for tobacco, large barn-like structure, all through the Connecticut valley. This is a great tobacco and coffee country. There are fine residences.

A thirty state.

Our 13th and 14th nights were spent in Lancaster, Mass. with our niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Brown. They are the care takers of Madam Thayer's estate and mansion, formerly owned by Madam Thayer, now deceased, and occupied by Madam Thayer, summers. Here for two days and two nights we made our home and roamed in the splendor of a real mansion. One picture in the drawing room, a life size portrait of Madam Thayer, cost forty thousand dollars. A splendid work of art. There were tapestries costing from thirty-five to forty thousand dollars. The statuary was wonderful, scattered through the rooms and about the grounds. A wonderful lake partially surrounded the mansion. The banks were fluted, coming in and going out in perfect half circles. Here were beautiful swans. Wonderful shrubs and flowers surrounded the grounds, beautiful terraces with marble images, and describe the beauty of this palatial home. 40 guests have been seated at the dining table in the lovely dining room since Mr. Brown came there.

Madam Thayer owns nearly all of So. Lancaster, the station called Thayer. We saw some fine rides through town in the lady's beautiful car. She has a number of large barns, one of which contains all of her carriages dating back for many years, stage coaches, barouches, covered carriages of all kinds, open carriages, saddles and other too numerous to mention. Splendid harnesses and livery.

A guard is on patrol here every night to guard the buildings and contents. Just one of Madam Thayer's smallest pictures or the price of one, would make a poor man independent for life.

We were royally entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Brown for which we shall always feel indebted. Our car was left in Mr. Brown's garage and the rest of our journey was by rail.

North Bridgton, in the evening, where we had a fine hot supper awaiting us, prepared by our sister, Mrs. F. O. Chadbourne. To say it tasted good is too mild a statement, for we were tired and famished after our long seige on the road. Eugene asked so good to us back, but our trip was one long to be remembered and the pleasure we derived from it and the kindness received at the hands of our dear companions and fellow travelers will always remain a green spot through life.

When the wind is blowing 40 knots an hour and the snow is drifting over the roof of our home, we shall look back to the happy winter we spent in the Sunny South, and perhaps wish ourselves back in beautiful Florida.

Prof. Verne Whitman of Laconia, N. H. returned to his home Sunday after visiting his parents, Judge and Mrs. C. F. Whitman several days. Prof. Whitman is traveling in a Studebaker special 6 and while returning from Buckfield with his father, coasted from Paris Hill to South Paris, in 40 knots an hour, a distance of nearly three miles. Mr. Whitman and son will come to Sunset Cottage later for the summer. An item of local interest in the Laconia Democrat relative to a benefit to the Laconia Hospital is a Card of Thanks to Prof. and Mrs. Whitman. The Hospital Aid Association were very grateful for their services at the concert given for a most worthy cause.

Mrs. Blanche Chipman and son have returned from a visit with relatives in Nova Scotia.

Judge and Mrs. M. N. Packard of Baltimore, Maryland are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Packard. They came by automobile and will visit in Bethel and other places before leaving Maine.

The Judge's health is improving and the journey appears to be doing him good.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur James of Lynn, Mass. are enjoying a motorcycle trip through Maine. They have been the guests of their uncle, William E. DeCrozeau and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius DeCrozeau.

STORY OF BY-GONE DAYS

Twenty-Six Years Ago

A thirty-six hours rain storm which commenced about 8 o'clock Monday morning measured about five inches. Lake Pennesseewassee filled rapidly and overflowed the bank near the "Red Mill house," head of Main street, making a strong current down through the mill yard. Above the dam it submerged the boat landings and Capt. Edmund Ames could not run his steamer "Pennesseewassee" through Crockett's bridge. George A. Brooks measurements show this freshet to exceed the one in October 1869, and another in March 1896, by at least an inch.

Noyes and Andrews have sold their dry goods business to Smiley Bros. of Clinton Mass. Possession will be taken about the first of August. The firm will continue their clothing business in the Blue Store.

Hugh Pendexter is reading law in Charles E. Holt's office.

The town lot on Main street, opposite the shoe factory, is being fitted up for a public park.

L. P. Bartlett and A. F. Marston of the B. F. Spinnery and Co. were in town making arrangements for repairs about the shoe factory. The town took no action at a recent meeting and the firm will go ahead with only the necessary changes.

A large number of children from Norway and South Paris went to Berlin, N. H. and remained during the burning of the Berlin Mills Co. saw mill. Insurance on the property $100,000. A hot box caused the conflagration which will throw 500 men out of work. The company will rebuild at once.

G. Paul Smith and Willard Gorton are the entertainers at Electric Park this week.

SOUTH PARIS

Paris Players

The Paris Players, the new dramatic club now being organized, gave its first performance of the laughable farce comedy in three acts, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," at West Sumner Monday evening, July 16th. The first performance angred well for the future success of The Players as they played to a crowded house with many standing. The play, which is one of the funniest that has ever come to the American stage, kept its audience in high good humor from start to finish. The play will be presented at Bolster's Mills on Thursday evening, July 24th, at Bethel on Tuesday evening, July 31st and at Association Hall, South Paris, on Friday evening, Aug. 3rd. Arrangements are being made to present it also at Lovell on Monday evening, July 23rd, and at Harrison on Friday evening, July 27th, which if completed, will make six performances before the play comes to So. Paris.

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram" is a royal play and a substantial sum must be paid to the authors for each performance given. The Players, however, wish to present plays up to date in every particular and consider this one well worth every cent it costs. So do the audience.

The entire proceeds of all performances of this play given by the Players will be turned over to Mt. Micah Lodge L. O. O. F. and Rebekahs.

The play has been in rehearsal for two months and has received careful attention.

If you enjoy a hearty laugh and many of them, reserve your seat only for "Mrs. Temple's Telegram" at Howard's Drug Store, South Paris, for there will be a big crowd out and the lodge will reap many golden shekels. The cast includes Wilbur Gammon, Dorothea Davis, Mae Stevens, Herbert Gibbs, Lula Bell, Roger Davis, Eugene Lovell, Eugene Davis, William Irvine and Frank Maxim.

Touring Car

We Want to Talk to Every Prospect Who Plans to Pay More Than $500 for a Car

We want to tell you something about the Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car. Want you to examine it—and to drive it.

Stop in and let us prove what a vast difference there is between the Light-Six and other cars at about the same price—or between the Light-Six and cars of other makes costing several hundred dollars more.

To be able to buy a Six, practically free from vibration, for less than $1,000 is an opportunity not duplicated anywhere in the world. Elimination of vibration adds immeasurably to the life of the motor. It is one of the reasons for the universal high resale value of the Light-Six.

The Touring Car body is all-steel—even to its framework. Seat cushions of genuine leather—are ten inches deep and are placed at the most restful angle.

The one-piece windshield is handsome and practical because it gives unobstructed view of the road ahead and is rain-proof. The quick-action cowl ventilator and the parking lights are but indications of the quality and completeness of the appointments.

No other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six Touring Car. The savings resulting from large volume, complete manufacture and the fact that Studebaker's overhead is shared by three distinct models make possible its low price and high value.

The Light-Six upholds Studebaker's 71-year reputation for honest value.

BOY SCOUT CAMP NOW OPEN

The Boy Scout Camp at Locke's Mills is now open with a good number of boys and more coming.

Leslie Ferguson who was camp director last year, is in charge of the camp and will have able assistants so that the safety and comfort of the boys may be insured.

It is the plan to have over-night camping trips to Concord-Shag-Worthly, and nearby ponds in addition to the many games that the boys had last year.

Oxford County is exceedingly fortunate in having such a place for a camp, which has been made possible by the generosity of L. C. Bates who has spent much time and money in making this place even more attractive than last year. All boys who have not yet registered should do so at once so as to make sure that there will be a place for them when they want to go and so that the necessary arrangements may be made.

FRYEBURG

There will be a dance at Denmark village at L. O. F. Hall, Friday evening, July 20, with music by Shaw's Orchestra of South Paris.

Miss Hattie Pike and Miss Ruth Glines have opened their "Studio" on Main street for the summer. They have a very attractive display of rugs and novelties of all sorts. The Studio is on the site of the renowned "Oxford House" and from the back porch is to be had one of the finest views of the Presidential range in this section. Miss Pike is the daughter of the late Asa O. Pike, who was proprietor of "The Oxford" for many years and is a very interesting young lady, being thoroughly acquainted with Fryeburg from its earliest history. Both Miss Pike and Miss Glines are well prepared to cater to strangers in their attractive bazaar.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Fogg of Milan, N. H., were in town Sunday. They brought Mrs. Rounds, formerly of Bethel part way on her trip to Mechanic Falls. They called on a few of their relatives and friends before returning to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elden Peterkin, Marion Wilson, their daughter, Mr. Philbrook of Frye, went to Bridgton to a family party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kimball Carsey, the others present were Mr. and Mrs. Demarest Romaine and two children of Backus, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Howard White and son Philip, and Martha Sanborn of Sebago, also a nephew, Mr. Charles.

Frank Flint was taken to a Portland hospital, Monday morning, for treatment of his knee which he injured a while ago.

Mrs. George Manley of Hyde Park, Mass., was a recent guest of her sister, Mrs. Amelia Grover.

Lilla Stearns of Albany has been assisting at Bethel Inn.

Alvin Richardson and family of Durham, N. H., are guests of his mother and sisters, Mrs. A. Richardson, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Howe.

Mrs. J. P. Skillings is able to leave the hospital, where she went for treatment, in Bethel, and is spending a few days with her people in Wakefield before returning to her home.

One of the dry houses in the mill yard caught fire Thursday. The firemen were certainly on their job in record time, and the blaze was soon subdued.

Mrs. Annie Bean of Albany was a recent guest of her son, H. I. Bean and family on Spring Street.

Fannie Sanborn was a guest of relatives, Sunday, and says her getting out brought the rain. Well, it was a welcome rain.

Thomas LaRue and family visited in Whitefield, N. H. Sunday. They reported the roads very muddy in Upton and Errol.

Mrs. Harry Brown is having her vacation from the L. M. Stearns millinery store.

Alice Brown is at home from South Berwick. She intends to enter the Domestic Science school in Boston on Berkeley Street this fall, for a course in dietetics.

Mrs. Cleveland Fairbanks and son Clayton of East Braintree, Mass., and Mrs. Verna J. Aldrich of Rumney, N. H. have been the guests of friends here and in Gilead.

Mrs. A. E. K. Grover was at Locke's Mills recently, calling on old neighbors and friends.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

NORWAY MEETIN' HOUSES IN THE OLD DAYS

By Mrs. Harriet E. Charles

It was in the forties that I began to realize the importance of "Meetin' Houses." Our interest was aroused and excited by the active preparations necessary for the day. We had to plan on Saturday what we should eat on Sunday, for in the early days of my Grandfather and Father, food must be prepared on Saturday and everything for the sacred observance of the Sabbath.

In my Grandfather's home the Sabbath began on Saturday at sunset, and ended at the same hour on Sunday, so that Saturday was a day of extra work. Every thing must be ready to go to "Meetin'" Sunday! We never spoke of going to church, we always called the place of worship the Meetin' House. We knew about churches of course but we children thought of them as grand edifices in the great cities which belonged to the English and Romanist societies.

I think in all small towns and rural districts, the name of church or going to church was seldom used.

If a new family moved into town, some of the first inquiries made in regard to them were, "do you know where they are going to Meetin'?" and if they chanced to have heard they didn't go regularly anywhere, they were considered by many not respectable. To their way of thinking not to go to any place of worship was a sin. With a large majority, observing the Sabbath was the one important event of the week, and much time was spent in preparation.

Times have changed, but as we are, as a people, better or worse for that change? On Saturday, the first thing was to gather the oven wood, and a fire made in the huge brick oven, to bake a quantity of food, which should last a few days at least, and leave Sunday free from the ordinary routine of work.

As I remember, there will never be anything so delicious as the beans, brown bread and Indian pudding which came out of the capacious old oven for Sunday morning breakfast. The pies and bread had an unusually appetizing flavor.

Then our meetin' clothes must be put in order, shoes brushed and everything ready to go to the Meetin' House, in season. There were three meeting houses in the village when I was old enough to be taken to Meetin'—The Methodist, Baptist and Universalist.

The Methodist denomination had a good following until the invasion of the Milleries in 1844, when some of its best supporters joined the new sect and left them in a weakened condition. The loyal members continued to worship in their little meetin' house, and until the Congregationalists, who were becoming quite numerous desired to purchase it for their society. There arose a sharp discussion, many of the Methodists being opposed to its sale. A very able business man came to the village and seemed determined to gain possession of the building. Finally he succeeded in winning a majority of the Methodists to the transfer, leaving a few staunch members refusing to sell "their rights."

There was great dissatisfaction among the people, one man in particular, going so far as to say the new society would not prosper; he and a few others preferring to worship at a neighboring village. They kept on, however, in the even tenor of their way and a few afterward built a church home which has prospered for many years.

The Congregationalists flushed with the success of their endeavor, made some necessary repairs and took possession, prepared to do good work in their line for the uplifting of the community. They secured able ministers and won their way in the ranks of Christian workers.

After a time there was an influx of new people who proved to be of great power and influence in the society; for instance, among them was Mr. Isaac Denison's family from Vermont and Mr. John Horne from New Hampshire. Their great interest and example aroused the enthusiasm of all to greater endeavor.

For some years the society grew and had wide spread influence; then came the Civil war which depleted the ranks and took from them able workers. Times grew hard and conditions seemed not as prosperous, and they were unable to procure the type of minister of former abilities. Finally there came to them a young man of pleasing personality and a scholar. After his ministry of a few weeks he was found to be mentally unbalanced so he was dismissed before his term of service expired. The church was nearly wrecked! (The Methodists might have said, "I told you so!" but I never heard that they did.)

About this time they learned of a man whose health had compelled him to give up large pastures so he went about doing good, helping to give new strength and vigor to churches which had become enfeebled. On being appealed to he agreed to come for four weeks "to look the ground over." His congenial ways, and his ardent desire to build up the society won and endeared him to all with whom he came in contact.

The people began to "thank God and take courage." The committee in charge of the business met him at the end of the four weeks and begged him to remain with them for a time at least. "I will do so conditionally. The church needs repairing and many things are needed, and you must pledge a certain amount for my salary for the year. It is more than you have formally done but I'm sure it can be accomplished by greater effort on your part. The committee were agitated at his statement! At the end of the week's time given them for decision they met him with these words, "We accept your conditions, we cannot let you go!"

Mr. Mills had insisted from the first that the power of prayer was the one remedy to restore prosperity. There began to be a steady increase in the congregation and quite a number of accessions to the church. All who were qualified to help in any way toward repairs, etc. gave generously and freely of their time. Everything seemed to be on the high tide of prosperity, when one sleety November day the church caught fire from an overheated furnace and burned to the ground.

Everyone felt the defeat of their hopes, that it would be impossible to rebuild but the minister came forward and said, "We will rebuild!" The salary you so generously subscribed for me, I intended returning half at the close of the year. That amount with the balance, combined with the renewed efforts of all members will warrant beginning at once. It would be a long story to tell of the chicken suppers, brown bread and bean collations, children making and selling candy in their zeal to help the good work along. In less than a year a new building was erected entirely free from debt. Again their hopes were revived when in a few months the church was once more partially destroyed by fire. However, they struggled on until the great fire in the 90's, when it was entirely consumed.

After prolonged discussion the site of the building was changed to the corner of Paris and Main streets. After this calamity "the ghost seemed to have been laid," for ever since it has had wonderful prosperity.

The Baptist denomination worshipped in a quaint little building, situated in the upper village, presided over by Elder Mason, a strong and faithful disciple of his faith. I had relatives who were members of that church, and it was a joy and delight as a child to be invited to attend service with them.

The high pulpit, the box shaped pews, each fastened by a little button to close one in, was very wonderful to me. I was almost lost in the corner where surrounding eyes could not see me if I wished to read the hymns and psalms in the old Watt's and Select Hymn Book.

I found verses stirring and illustrating the stern doctrine that was preached from their pulpit: as follows—"My thoughts on awful subjects roll, Damnation and the dead; What horrors seize the guilty soul. Upon a dying bed! Linger about these mortal shores, The Maker long delays, Till, like a flood with rapid force, Death sweeps the wretch away."

Who of us could stand up with a congregation and sing such a hymn as that today! but they were consistent in their beliefs, they took the Bible literally as the Word of God, and though they did not pretend to understand its mysteries the "Thus saith the Lord," was to them a command from Heaven, though they were forced to quarrel with the Bible as did all evangelical sects. Many of Isaac Watt's hymns are used today.

Tradition tells us he was of a cheerful type in his youth, was full of pranks and mischief, making rhymes even in boyhood. It is related that before his father's teacher for some misdemeanor to receive punishment, his sunny boyish face so impressed her, she relented and said, "Isaac if you will make a rhyme in five minutes I will excuse you from the whipping I intended." Without hesitation, he said—

"Here I stand before Miss Blodgett, She means to strike, But I'm going to dodge it!"

Amid roars of laughter he returned to his seat.

The Baptist denomination has had a great place in the religious world and in this town have a commodious place of worship with its band of sincere workers doing good.

Last but not least I come to the Universalist Church as I remember it in my young days. I do not know when it came into existence as a denomination, but I remember it as a pleasant place of meeting. The promoters and supporters were of Norway's enterprising citizens. I remember discussing some of these men of the other meetin' houses, for sometimes they would be held in my father's shop where I heard much though understood but little.

They argued on the subject mostly, whether of their everlasting punishment, or whether death was the beginning of a state of bliss forever. One side would argue that Christ's own words were, "These shall go away into everlasting punishment," etc, the other, that "God was too merciful, God is love," etc, each holding strong arguments, and a right to interpret the scriptures as he saw them.

All sects have their modified views and beliefs, many of the stern old doctrines giving way to more liberal thinking, but one thing is certain, God reigns and ultimately the whole world will come to a better understanding of His Word.

When we left Norway in 1878 there was not, to my knowledge a Romanist or Episcopalian in the town. Now I understand they have places of worship and have identified themselves with the moral forces of the community.

I must not forget to mention the little hand of Quakers who held occasional services, usually in the school house, among them, dear old Dr. Millet who was a leader of the society. They believed most thoroughly in developing the "inner life," of being led by the Spirit.

I remember attending a service at early candle light when after a short address silence reigned until the end of the hour. On being asked the reason for this form of worship, they simply replied, the Spirit did not lead us to speak. They were a devoted Christian people and a power in the community by their example.

So everybody went to Meetin'! Every body tried to exert an influence for good in the dear old town.

When you are considering the purchase of a preferred stock, be sure to find out how long it has paid dividends.

Central Maine Power Company 7 per cent. Preferred Stock has paid dividends uninterruptedly for 18 years. Only one other large power company has paid dividends longer on its preferred stock, only one other has paid as long.

When a company has plowed right ahead for 18 years, paying dividends without interruption, year after year, it has established a record that entitles its holders to feel very sure that it is going to pay dividends ALWAYS.

This is especially the case with Central Maine Power Company since the amount of dividend earning property behind the investment is constantly increasing, and since its earnings are constantly increasing.

That is the name that is usually applied to the sun when it gets good and hot. Now Old Sol can make it pretty uncomfortable for us sometimes, now it is our business to work against Old Sol when he gets down to a business basis. How well we succeed is proven by the enormous amount of hot weather wearing apparel we sell every year to the Men and Young Men. Have you got your outfit yet? That is the necessary clothing to meet Old Sol with and meet him with a smile. We are ready to fight him good and hard.

Auriette Losier is visiting friends in Auburn.

Mrs. Charles Thurlow and two boys returned home last Wednesday from their visit to Phillips and Lewiston.

Velma Barron of Auburn was a week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thurlow, she returned to her home, Sunday.

Mrs. Walter Kincaid of Somerville, Mass., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Linnell. She is making a good recovery from her recent operation for goitre.

Mrs. Rowena Townsend has enjoyed having all her children with her the past week, but her eldest son who resides in Dayton, Ohio; Elmer and Ethel from Portland, Exton from Auburn, Alice from Lincolnville, Vernon from North Jay, and Vivian from Lewiston. It has been eight years since they were all together.

Most of these sons and daughters had their families with them, making a happy occasion with children and grandchildren, for Mrs. Townsend. We hope for them many more pleasant reunions.

Nathaniel F. Lamb

On July 9, 1923, Nathaniel F. Lamb passed away at his home in East Otisfield. His death came quite unexpectedly to his family and friends. Although he had been an invalid for about three years, he had improved so much in health during the last few weeks that his family would have expected him to be well and should regain his normal health. But their hopes were not to be fulfilled.

The funeral services were held at the home on Wednesday, July 11th, conducted by Rev. George Kneeland, a former neighbor, who came from Lebanon to attend the service and to speak words of comfort.

Mr. Lamb was born in Otisfield, May 21, 1851, the son of William and Roxana (Bucknam) Lamb, and a descendant, through the Lambs, Thurstons and Spurr's of those early pioneer settlers to whom the town of Otisfield owes so much and he inherited all their desirable traits and good qualities. After completing his education in the schools of Otisfield and Paris, he spent some time in Massachusetts but he left his employment there and returned home when his parents needed his care.

He married June 26, 1887 Sybil A. Knight, daughter of Stephen and Jeremiah (Hancock) Knight and they resided on the old homestead. The loving devotion and tender care given by both Mr. and Mrs. Lamb to the elderly people in the home during their declining years is too well known to need further comment. Its recollection brings warmth to our hearts and tears to our eyes.

Mr. Lamb will be greatly missed in the community. Although a man of few words, yet his kindly sympathy and understanding endeared him to all with whom he came in contact, and his heart appealed to him in vain for help or counsel. His entire life has been one of service.

Such a life as this does not die. It lives in the hearts of those left behind, and each memory of him brings with it the remembrance of some loving thought, some kindly deed, some friendly act, generously given. His going brings deep sorrow to us, yet we know that death is only a step onward in a continuous existence and we believe that even now his freed spirit is rejoicing in the new and wider opportunities of the larger life now opening before him.

A farm of 50 acres is advertised for sale in this issue by Alonzo P. Richards of Farmington. See ad.

HARRISON

Harriet Whitney of Portland is spending the summer with her grandfather, Horace Whitney.

Clarence DeWitt was in Portland a few days last week.

Helen Lord of Danbury, N. H., and Gladys Ray of Goffstown, N. H., students at Keene Normal School, are spending a few days with F. P. Freeman and family on Hillside Avenue. Miss Lord and Miss Ray were employed at the Freeman Drug Store during the season of 1922.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Flint spent the week end with their son G. Harrington and wife of Rumbout at their home in Millettsville, Norway.

Burke Dillon and sister of New York are at their summer home on Daves Hill. Miss Dillon has many pupils in town.

Barn Dance

A dance and general good time was held at the new barn recently erected on the Elmer Thomas place.

Mr. Thomas' buildings were entirely destroyed by fire the past winter and the new barn is very fine and well built on the same foundation. The guests each brought some article for the new home.

David Green, our local undertaker, went to Massachusetts Monday morning with the body of Mrs. Spiller for burial. Mrs. Spiller made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Dana M. Stuart, Bolster's Mills Road. Mrs. Spiller lived in this village at one time and had many friends here.

Helena Caswell is working in the post-office during the summer season.

C. Garvin Gilman entertained the cast of characters in "The Private Secretary" at the camp on Long Lake in Bridgton, where he is stopping. Plans were made for another play which he expects to stage here in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Knight and daughter accompanied by friends from Phillips, spent Sunday with Lawrence Knight and family on Hillside Avenue.

Charles Harrison gave a concert on Saturday evening at the Bungalow Play House. He was ably assisted by Mari- on Haskell of Norway, violinist, and Mr. Ross, pianist.

Lucille Kneeland is assisting in the "Gift Shop." A very attractive opening was held on Monday, July 9th, when attractive souvenirs were presented to all. Mrs. Merrill is in charge of this store of useful and wonderfully beautiful art goods, fir pillows, books, rust craft and basketry of all descriptions.

A Shooting Affair

Because they taunted him and called him names, Decatur Faw, a fifty year old negro, is alleged to have shot at three young men who are spending the summer at Harrison, and to have wounded one of them, Kenneth Caswell, of Austin, Texas.

Faw was arrested by deputy sheriff Earl Davis, on a charge of assault with intent to kill, and was held for the Grand Jury when brought before Judge Pike in the Bridgton Municipal Court.

According to the story which was told in court, the three young men, two of whom are from Texas and the other from New York, had been annoying the negro for several days, calling him names, and attempting to run him down with a machine.

This morning they were said to have gone by the house of Miss Laura Tolman, where Faw was caretaker, and to have indulged in their regular practice of calling him uncomplimentary names. The caretaker went into the house, according to the evidence, and returned with a revolver to await the return of the young men.

As they came back along the road, he stopped them and asked them if they meant the insulting things which they had said, it is alleged, and when they replied that they most certainly did, drew the revolver and shot at them, hitting Caswell in the breast over the heart, but only inflicting a flesh wound.

The young men did not remain in the neighborhood of the enraged caretaker longer, but took Caswell home and notified the authorities of the incident. Deputy Sheriff Davis went to the Tolman home and arrested Faw. He was taken to the County Jail at Portland to await the September term of the Grand Jury.

The injured youth, who is nineteen years old, is visiting with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Caswell, at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. D. H. Caswell.

NORTH WATERFORDWhitehouse Reunion

The Whitehouse reunion was held July 4th at "Sunny Side," the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Shedd. More than fifty partook of the wonderful dinner served under the trees on the lawn on long tables loaded down with serving tables beside. The hostess served baked beans, brown bread, coffee, lemonade and ice cream. Other members of the family brought roast chicken, meats, cheese, pickles, custard and many other kinds of pies and cakes of all kinds known to the culinary art, and a large amount of fruit. Seventy-two people, all counted, were there during the day and evening.

Many happy reminiscences were enjoyed by all. Also some fine readings by Mrs. George Mary, who is very well known for his elocutionary ability. A number of fine musicians were present and all enjoyed the vocal and instrumental music in the afternoon. The player piano, also, furnished a great deal of enjoyment to the young people. All voted it the banner reunion.

Relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Whitehouse and son Floyd and wife, Elden Whitehouse and son Lincoln Whitehouse, wife and son, North Bridge; Harry Whitehouse, wife and two children; their mother and two of their friends, a gentleman and lady; Richmond, Lester, Emily and Hayward Whitehouse, Mrs. Eliza Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Chadbourne and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Mary, North Bridge; Hugh Smart, wife and three children, Hayward, Winnifred and Valmore, Joseph DaGagne, wife and daughter Cleo of Portland; Mrs. R. B. Penfold, two children, Mae and Jack, South Paris; Ernest Brown, wife and son, Juv. children, Juv. and Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lord, O'Neil Mills, wife and son Francis; Ruth and Eva Lord, Albany; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lord, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Weymouth and son Albert; Stanley Lord, Kathleen Lord, Lee Lord, Mattie Sands, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Shedd, North Waterford, and many others.

Sunday School Formed

There was a meeting called at the Bissetown schoolhouse, Sunday, for the purpose of establishing a Sunday school there. Quite a little gathering came to the meeting held by Rev. McGilvery, Sunday a. m. The following officers were elected:

Supt.—Mrs. Lydia L. Shedd.
2nd Supt.—Mrs. Lottie Morse.
Sec.—Evelyn Morse.
Treas.—Mrs. Nellie Hobson.

The primary class will be taught by Mrs. Lafayette Flint. The teachers for the senior and other classes will be chosen next Sunday. The services will commence at 3 p. m. and every Sunday until further notice. Mr. Mosby will be present next Sunday at the meeting.

E. C. Henley has the measles and Walter Lord is carrying the mail, Myron Lord drives for him.

Mrs. Eudice Foster and grandson called on Walter Lord and family and J. F. Lord, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Shedd, Walter Lord and George Bickford attended the funeral of Mrs. Shedd's sister-in-law, Mrs. C. P. Whitehouse, at North Bridge, Sunday. All of the Whitehouse family were present. A family of five children and their wives and their children, Mr. Whitehouse's brother, A. H. Whitehouse and five sisters were present also.

Robert Hill went to Harrison one day this week after a horse that had been injured by falling through a floor. Mr. Hill has a number of horses at work on the State road in Harrison.

Wm. Fisk has one of the best calves, if not the best, in the State. The calf is ten months old and weighs around 800 lbs. Its girth is 5 feet, 3 inches. It is a thoroughbred Red Durham. He recently sold a fancy pair of steer calves. He has some of the best bred cattle in the State and knows the business from start to finish.

Mrs. Rebecca Fisk brought a beautiful bouquet of flowers for Mrs. Shedd, Sunday, to take to her brother's wife's funeral, for which she was very thankful. We wish there were more women like Mrs. Fisk, always thoughtful of others and making sunny spots all along her way.

The Rev. McGilvery, H. Crawford, and Mr. Mosby took tea with Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Shedd, Saturday.

Plint Bros. and Leslie Hobson are changing ways in leaving again this year.

Velma Hobson has been on a few days vacation the past week with relatives in Naples.

O'Neil Mills is working for Wm. Fisk through having.

Mrs. Wm. Sands has returned from her visit to her daughter in Lakeside and is with her daughter, Mrs. Mills, at present. Mr. Sands has gone to the hospital.

BissetownBissetown School Reunion

The annual school reunion held at the Bissetown schoolhouse, in Bissetown, last Saturday in June, as usual, was enjoyed by a large company of old scholars and friends.

A splendid picnic dinner was served on long tables made under the trees beside the schoolhouse. Baskets, boxes, pails and grates held a bountiful supply of all kinds of edibles. All of the good cooks seemed to outdo themselves this time. Where so much came from (and where it went) is a mystery that will never be solved. Ice cream was served by Mrs. Lydia Shedd and Lottie Morse. Mrs. Shedd's monster cream freezer of Grapenut and Mrs. Morse's freezer of chocolate were soon disposed of.

A grand program in the afternoon was enjoyed by all, followed by many interesting races.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

Many stores closed at 8 o'clock Monday evening for the last session of chautauqua.

George H. Downing of Auburn spent Sunday in town.

Miss Gabrielle Elliot from Wentworth-by-the-Sea Hotel, Portsmouth, N. H., was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Edwin Cummings, from Friday until Tuesday. The family passed Sunday in a camp at Howard's Pond, Hanover.

A six reel feature showing the process of building an automobile was shown at Rex Theatre on a recent evening. The story started at the mines with crude iron and traced the manufacture of articles going into auto construction. The last reel was a continuous story of making and assembling standard cars under modern factory conditions. Many "class ups" were very interesting. The show was free and given by the W. F. Knight Co. of Norway, agents for the Strohbecker.

Dr. Charles Cragin of Portland was in town Tuesday.

Mrs. Madeline Crocker and children are spending two weeks at Old Orchard the guests of her father, Mr. Mowbray.

The act appearing in "The Fish-bowl" at the Community Chautauqua were guests at Beals Tavern during their stay in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmont Cole and friend from Lynn, Mass., will enjoy an outing at Eugene F. Hayden's cottage at the lake.

Mrs. Mary Churchill is assisting with the housework at Charles W. Chick's.

Lucy Cobb is assistant and bookkeeper at Cobb's Market.

Concert by Norway-Paris Band at Market Square, South Paris, Monday evening, July 30. This change in location was made as the concert on Monday evening this week was postponed for chautauqua.

Stores were closed from 2 until 3 o'clock Monday afternoon during the funeral services of Dr. H. L. Bartlett.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Swain are at Camp Mayfloss, Kezar Lake, Lovell, guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Ring.

Charles H. May of Leominster, N. H., was in town Tuesday. Mr. May is a printer at the Leominster Press.

He has been spending a few days in Maine and was on his way to Portland en route for Bethel, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon A. Emery, Elizabeth and Martha Emery, Mrs. Hatch of Paris Hill and Ralph E. Osmeal spent Sunday with Mr. Emery's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Emery at Farmington.

Billy White and Walter Peel played for the Taxis at Sherbrook, Sunday.

Cort Hunt and Kennedy also went to Canada, Sunday, with the Oxford team for a game with their outfit.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton L. Brown went to Winthrop Center, Sunday, with their two boys, Horace and Paul Brown, and Philip Greenleaf and Kenneth Goodwin. The boys will spend three weeks at the Y. C. U. Camp, Oberlin, Norway, where the camp are Vincent Ashton, Albert Clark, Orrington and Norman Tubbs.

Bob McCready has qualified for the fire department. While motoring on the Waterford road Sunday, a seven passenger auto bearing a Massachusetts number plate, just ahead of him, burst into flames. Bob reeled off some quick thinking after exciting a war dance in his excitement. Grabbing a sauce pan from his berry picking kit, he rushed to the scene and buried the flames under the sand. The flames were extinguished after five rounds of the hardest fighting. He won the everlasting gratitude of the owners and is something of a hero about town "ter book."

Frank J. McCarthy was taken to the St. Mary's Hospital at Lewiston for treatment, Tuesday. His health has been failing the past few weeks, but his friends trust this may not prove serious.

Mrs. John F. Sampson is having good business at Wassco Cottage near Norway Lake. Naturally the Sunday diners are attracting many auto parties.

A khaki coat picked up in the street has been at the postoffice the last three weeks, waiting its owner.

Mrs. Mae Austin visited her home here Wednesday. She is housekeeper at a cottage at Poland Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richardson and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Yates and three children are having a vacation in Greenwood. The men work in Norway days and return to camp nights. It is reported that they have a pond lily farm there and are supplying the trade.

Shirley Milliken was in town Wednesday, and sold some of his equipment in his store on Danforth street. "Hick" is a full fledged farmer and likes it.

The Mid-summer Sale of the Congregational church which was to be held last Wednesday, was postponed until Wednesday, August 8.

The Ladies' Circle of the Universalist Church will hold an all day meeting with Mrs. Frank Beck, Friday. Picnic lunch at noon.

Capt. Mel Sampson is removing his motor boats from the lake, giving to low water near the landing. He stated this is the first time in July during the past thirty years his navigation has been interrupted by so low water. The Captain says: "If others don't do likewise pretty soon, wheels will be needed on the job."

A novelty dance is scheduled for the Norway Ice Pavilion on Friday evening, July 27. A program includes elimination prize waltz, confetti fox trot, hot dog fox trot, Boston fancy and other music.

Norton's Syncopators will furnish music.

Fred "Shorty" Paine has been on an auto trip to Lynn and Haverhill, Mass., on business and pleasure.

Citizens are commenting on waste paper and other litter in Witherell Park.

Some definite arrangement should be made to keep the spot tidy as possible.
